Simple, Safe Financial Solutions

A not-for-profit agency.
“Helping people achieve financial freedom is much more than a job for us at Cambridge; it’s something that we take great pride in - knowing we are helping people make positive changes in their lives.”

About Cambridge Credit Counseling

At Cambridge, we’ve been helping people achieve financial freedom for more than 20 years. Although we began our work focusing solely on credit card debt, we’ve since expanded our menu of services to include assistance with nearly every source of consumer debt.

We believe that treating a person’s financial issues goes far beyond simply getting them out of credit card debt. Our “holistic approach” gives consumers access to a wide variety of services, including student loan counseling, foreclosure intervention, rental counseling, first-time homebuyer courses and reverse mortgage counseling.

In addition to all of these services, we’re also approved by the Department of Justice’s Executive Office for United States Trustees to provide the required education courses for consumers looking to file bankruptcy.

We have more than 40 nationally certified counselors on staff, most of whom are cross-certified to provide assistance in several areas. The average tenure of our staff is more than 12 years, making Cambridge one of the most experienced agencies with the most dedicated staff in our profession.

We invite you to learn more about the many ways that Cambridge is helping people achieve financial freedom every day!

“My experience with Cambridge was amazing. We had some financial difficulties and were looking at different options, so we decided to go on a payment plan with them. They helped us lower our interest rates and monthly payment, which made it possible for us to make the payments. Now, we are completely debt free. Also, the representatives who helped us along the way were excellent - very responsive, understanding and supportive.”

Rental Counseling

For those who prefer to rent their living space, Cambridge offers both Rental Education Workshops and personalized one-on-one Rental Counseling sessions. Our counselors teach effective budgeting and money management techniques, how to review a credit report and dispute discrepancies, and information on a variety of topics designed specifically for the renter or landlord.

Additionally, we’ll teach renters how to apply for tenancy, the typical expenses that they’ll incur as a renter, how to properly communicate with their landlord, what they need to know about keeping up with necessary maintenance and repairs, and the importance of understanding their rights and responsibilities.

Foreclosure Intervention

Consumers who fall behind on their mortgage payments or foresee a problem maintaining their payments in the future don’t usually understand the options that are available to them. Many give up and allow their homes to go into foreclosure, which can have dramatic financial, psychological and emotional effects on the entire family.

Our Foreclosure Intervention and Default Counselors specialize in working with homeowners and their loan servicers to help ensure that the homeowner’s best interests are being considered. If the homeowner qualifies for one of the many loan modification programs available, our counselors will work with them every step of the way to increase the chances of keeping their home.

1st-Time Homebuyer Courses

First-time homebuyers often have opportunities to benefit from incentive programs from their lenders, but to obtain those benefits, such as down payment assistance, they must participate in an approved education course.

Our courses meet the National Industry Standards for Homebuyer Education and can be used toward programs such as Mass Housing, US Department of Agriculture (USDA) and Veteran’s Affairs (VA) loans.

Our courses include The Road Home and E-Home America and are designed to prepare people for homeownership and give them the tools they need to be responsible homeowners.

Credit Counseling & Debt Management

Credit counseling is much more than a “debt consolidation” service. It is an educational experience designed to teach consumers the basics of managing their personal finances and help them create and maintain a working household budget.

Our counselors are nationally certified experts who perform a free review of the consumer’s finances to determine the most appropriate course of action needed to get them out of debt.

In the event that this budgeting session results in enrollment in a Debt Management Plan, we’ll consolidate all of their unsecured bills into one simple monthly payment. As a result of their enrollment, our clients typically receive significant concessions from their creditors, including interest rate reductions and late and/or over-limit fee waivers, allowing them to get out of debt in the shortest possible timeframe.

Most consumers who seek our assistance can only afford to make minimum payments on their accounts. Without assistance, most of these people will be paying down their balances for decades. Cambridge clients are debt-free in about 45 months.

Benefits of a Debt Management Plan

Reduced Interest Rates
On average, our clients’ interest rates are reduced from 22% down to just 8%.

Lower Monthly Payments
Our clients’ monthly credit card payments are reduced by an average of 25%.

Elimination of Fees
Some creditors will reduce or waive fees and bring accounts to a current status.

Faster Debt Repayment
On average, our clients are debt-free in approximately 50 months.
A Reverse Mortgage, also called a Home Equity Conversion Mortgage (HECM), is a loan for seniors 62 and older that allows homeowners to convert the equity in their homes into cash with no monthly payments. Instead, the loan is paid after the homeowner either moves out of the home or passes away.

Some seniors use a reverse mortgage to access the equity in their homes to supplement their income, while others use it to eliminate their existing mortgage or to improve their monthly cash flow.

Regardless of the reasons why a senior may be interested in a reverse mortgage, it’s important that they fully understand all aspects of this product. In fact, in order for them to close on the loan, they must participate in a one-on-one counseling session with an approved agency such as Cambridge.

“Our counselor had extensive knowledge of reverse mortgages and explained every aspect of the short-term and long-term advantages and disadvantages. He also offered alternatives and explained in detail how those would affect my retirement. I really appreciate the dedication in helping me understand a complicated decision that will affect the rest of my life.”

Student loan debt has surpassed credit card debt and is now the second largest source of consumer debt in the United States.

Americans now owe over $1.2 trillion in student loans, with the average borrower contributing about $30,000 to that number.

In response to this crisis, we have developed a Student Loan Counseling division specifically designed to help borrowers who have federal student loans to find remedies that may help them reduce or even eliminate this debt.

In most cases, when borrowers contact their servicer for assistance, they are offered a forbearance, which really only extends the length and amount of their loans. This may be a viable short-term solution if a borrower is having trouble making their payments, but it doesn’t offer any assistance for the long-term. Our student loan counselors are highly trained experts in finding viable long-term solutions for borrowers rather than just short-term fixes.

A student loan counselor will review the client’s household budget and help them identify all of the repayment plans that they may be eligible for. They also help consumers create a strategy that works best for their specific circumstances. Some of the options that borrowers may qualify for include:

- Reduced monthly payments
- Loan consolidation, cancellation and forgiveness
- Income-based repayment plans
- Loan rehabilitation, even after years of non-payment

For more information, we invite you to contact our Student Loan Counseling Division at (888) 661-7910.

“I contacted Cambridge because I needed real help with my student loans. As a nurse, I was surprised to learn that there are many specialized programs available to help people in my profession, including federal student loan forgiveness programs! I’m working with one of Cambridge’s counselors now to see if I qualify.”

Personal Financial Education

Our primary mission at Cambridge is to educate consumers about all aspects of personal finance. Although these topics are rarely discussed in our public schools, understanding them is fundamental to building a financially responsible America.

To this end, we’ve produced thousands of pages of financial literacy materials, including financial wellness guides, budgeting and tracking worksheets, and hundreds of educational videos and articles on a wide variety of financial literacy topics.

Most of this information can be found on our website, www.cambridge-credit.org, and we can also create custom materials for nearly any audience. Please contact our Director of Education at (413) 241-2401 for more information.

Bankruptcy Counseling

The Bankruptcy Abuse Prevention and Consumer Protection Act of 2005 requires prospective filers to obtain credit counseling from a government-approved organization. These consumers must also complete a debtor education course before their debts are discharged.

Cambridge is approved by the US Department of Justice’s Executive Office for United States Trustees to provide these required educational services.

Our Pre-Bankruptcy Credit Counseling session includes an evaluation of the individual’s financial situation, a discussion of possible alternatives to bankruptcy, and a personalized budget plan. A typical session lasts about 60 to 90 minutes and can take place in-person, over the phone, or online.

Our Debtor Education course includes information on developing a budget, managing money, using credit wisely, as well as a number of other helpful topics. This course is available online and typically takes about two hours to complete.
Place Your Trust in Cambridge

People all over the country have been placing their trust in Cambridge for over 20 years. Throughout this time, we’ve helped hundreds of thousands of people achieve financial freedom while providing them with the education and tools they need to stay debt-free forever. Here are a few more reasons why so many Americans continue to place their trust in Cambridge:

ConsumerAffairs.com
Cambridge is proud to be the highest rated credit counseling agency on ConsumerAffairs.com. Our ratings are based solely on reviews from our current and former clients, 96% of whom have given our services and staff 5 out of 5 stars.

Better Business Bureau
Cambridge Credit Counseling has an A+ rating with the Better Business Bureau, and we’ve maintained this rating for many years. BBB ratings are based on many factors, but most important are the numbers of complaints from consumers. This rating, coupled with our 98% customer satisfaction rate, illustrates the commitment we make to providing our clients with superior service.

ISO 9000 Quality System
Cambridge has been an ISO 9000-registered agency since 2001. The ISO standard ensures that our agency continually improves the quality of our services with the ultimate goal of increasing customer satisfaction. This commitment to quality includes every aspect of our agency - from initial contact through program graduation.

“Cambridge has helped me so much. They are always there when you need them. To be totally debt free is a great feeling. Thank you to all at Cambridge.”
